REGENERATION. The belief in Eternal Life is prevalent in every culture, society, and religion. At its core, it is a belief based on faith, and what is based on the unseen is a mystery. In this release, I will unfold the truth of Eternal Life hidden from Humanity for untold centuries. We begin with this fact: THE SOUL IS AN IMMORTAL CREATION. At one stage in the academic arena, we had only the religious texts to substantiate this belief, but today, science is proving the phenomenon to be true. It was in 2010 that I first came to understand the dynamics of the soul, which allowed me to discover the mystery of Regeneration that had eluded my thinking because of my Christian religious background. During this mindset transition from Greek to Hebrew, I understood the Jewish concept of gilgul - the Jewish idea of reincarnation. A similar understanding exists in Muslim texts. The idea here is that life is a cycle of births and deaths, and every human passes through cycles of birth and death. We don't have to look far to see this is a reality in Nature and the Universe. Indeed, everything in the Universe and Nature is running and returning, ebbing and flowing, dying and being reborn anew. According to Jewish Kabbalah, the soul is eternal and does not die when the body dies - the same belief Christians have about the spirit. The difference here is that the Jews believe that the soul returns again and again until it arrives at its point of rectification, which they express in the term Tikkun. This sounds like reincarnation, but the two concepts are not the same. Reincarnation teaches that the human soul can descend or ascend to an upper or lower life form, respectively, or it can be split into different parts (emotions, will, intellect, etc.) depending on what part of your soul requires repair. On the other hand, Regeneration teaches that you can only return as a whole - as another human being. Technically, this is called transmigration, which is the Jewish idea of ha'atoka. The Jewish concept of reincarnation has a prestigious and elongated history of Rabbinic teaching, which I cannot cover here. Transmigration means that a particular soul dies and then returns intact to another body in a subsequent lifetime. In the discipline of Psychology, it is called metempsychosis. I prefer to view and call this process Regeneration, which will be referred to in this light. I want to make clear this teaching is not about Kabbalah or reincarnation. Frankly speaking, I don't believe in the concept of reincarnation that the Hindu religion teaches, and I don't accept everything that the Kabbalists teach. If you are a Christian, you may be thinking, "This is already sounding too 'Eastern' for me and is not in the Bible." – Do not be alarmed; it is in the Bible, and the Church fathers taught it for centuries! Emperor Justinian, at the second Church Council of Constantinople in 553 C.E., officially removed all references to reincarnation (Regeneration) from the New Testament. Regeneration was the belief system of the Christians before the Church began to change the system in the third century, and it was later banned from its tenure of belief in the fifth century C.E. It was an integral part of the teaching of Messiah Yeshua. His words were recorded in many books confiscated by the Catholic Church and hidden for 1800 years. The secular and scientific evidence for Regeneration is well established. Not surprisingly, Atheists and Agnostics find this belief much more palatable than the traditional idea of heaven and hell. It is estimated that there are about one billion Atheists and Agnostics in the World. The difficult-to-ignore fact is that ninety percent of the World's active religions believe in one form or another of reincarnation. Judaism, Hinduism, Buddhism, and Yahwehism have reincarnation as their fundamental base doctrine and, to a lesser extent, the Muslim faith. The Sufi and other Muslim sects teach Rajat, literally going up and down in a cyclic fashion. Still, no mainstream Christian denomination today teaches Regeneration as a belief, yet it is apparent everywhere in the Scriptures. We wrote a 270-page book on the subject. Another interesting statistic states that sixty percent of the World's population believes in some form of reincarnation. Today, approximately 30 million Americans (one in four) believe in reincarnation, and the number continues to grow. Whether you consider yourself to be religious or an atheist, sooner or later, the truths that I am presenting here will knock at your door. How much better than you learn the original teachings and beliefs? We know for a fact that an impressive amount of data has been collected by universities, researchers, child psychologists, and past life therapists on near-death experiences and past life memories, providing evidence that is clear and convincing to any open mind, showing that life continues after death. The internet is proliferated with stories of this kind, and it would be hard to dispute that the phenomenon exists. The standard Christian apologetic against past life memories and hypnotic regression argues that these are explainable as demonic possession by disembodied spirits. How easy it is to label as "demonic" everything that conflicts with our religious theology. It is time we go beyond these barriers. I cannot imagine today where I would be if I had not conquered this mindset and decided to venture beyond the texts of Christianity, which had kept me in a cocoon for decades. It took me three years to work out how this surprisingly simple system works and where it is heading in the epochs of time. I searched for every available teaching on the subject and combed the Scriptures for understanding. What I discovered changed my life, and will do the same for you! My discovery has radically transformed my understanding of life and raised my admiration of my Creator to soaring heights. Death is no longer something mysterious or to be feared but the very door to rebirth. However, I had one major gap in the system that I could not work out. If I was returning to this Earth to relive my life repeatedly, why can't I know who I was before and who I will be in my next life? If one can journey into the past, then there is no reason why we cannot journey into the future since life is one linear and elongated journey. After all, this is how Tibetan Buddhists identify their succession of Dalai Lamas or Chief Lamas. It is an accepted fact among Tibetan society that the present Dalai Lama is the fourteenth reincarnation of the original Dalai Lama, and they found him when he was about two years old. The fact that you can discover your past life and your next life should not only be in the domain of an exclusive club. It must be for all people if it is truly from YHWH. It dawned on me one day as I was meditating on this truly profound system that this is the secret of eternal life –the answer to the ultimate quest of Humanity to find eternal life. It was all around me in Nature, creation, and every human being. Still, I could not see its simple truth because I was looking for something out of this World, in the domain of faith, as religion had taught me in my formative years under Christianity. Here is the secret of Regeneration in a nutshell: The knowledge of knowing who you were (past) and who you will be reborn as (future) is eternal life (present)! This is premised upon the scientific truth that we were created to exist forever. The day I discovered this simple truth, I jumped for joy when its first rays of enlightenment hit my soul, and I knew I had to investigate this truth with all my might, and it would be what would eventually define me and my ministry. In a book we wrote called Regeneration we were created to live forever; I explained the science behind Regeneration in these words: "WE WERE CREATED TO EXIST FOREVER. The reason is simple: At the core of our make-up, we are ENERGY. The first law of thermodynamics states that energy is always conserved; it cannot be created or destroyed. In actuality, energy can be converted from one form into another, but it cannot be destroyed. Energy always seeks to remain in a constant, and that constant is EXISTENCE. We were created in the beginning to EXIST FOREVER because the essence of our being is taken from "the Eternal," Who has neither beginning nor end. We are an offshoot of the Creator, taken from the source that is ever-constant, non-changing, and perpetual - therefore, it is impossible for us to cease at death. Death is not to be feared but embraced as a natural part of living. All life is cyclic, and death is a natural part of that cycle. Essentially, what I am saying is that death is not real; it is a passing moment in a transition. We are already IMMORTAL BEINGS. If you can grasp this fundamental truth, then you will realize "WHAT you are" (Notice I did not say "who you are"). What you are is PURE INDESTRUCTIBLE ENERGY! At the micro atomic level, we are atoms and electrons that are constantly pulsating or vibrating at a frequency we call VISIBLE LIFE or what I have

termed CORPOREAL ENERGY – bodily energy. Essentially, we are sound waves pulsating at a constant waveform that becomes the likeness or expression of what we see in this natural World. For example, the waves we see in the ocean are waves of energy pulsating through the water at a particular frequency. We cannot see the energy moving through the water, but we know that with certain scientific instruments, it is measurable and just as real as the physical expression itself. So are we!" Energy is always conserved. When a physical object burns or rots, the energy or energy configuration or information contained in that physical object is not destroyed. It merely passes on to another form. A soul is life and energy, as the Torah states, "Elohim breathed into his nostrils a nishmatchaim (living soul)" (Beresheeth (Genesis) 2:7). What had been for me an idea or concept is now an indisputable law of Nature – the Law of Regeneration. A law that I can clearly see governing all human and animal life on Earth. According to this law, we are already immortal beings with a long history of Regeneration. Many years ago, I was first educated as a historian and anthropologist, and these disciplines taught me that every idea, concept, and principle has a genesis in the past of Humanity, no matter how seemingly new it appears. Scripture is in perfect agreement, saying, "That which has been, is that which shall be: and that which has been done, is that which shall be done, and there is nothing new under the sun" (Koheleth (Ecclesiastes) 1:9). Thus when I began my search, I thoroughly expected the idea that we are immortal souls that return after death to be present in human history. In the 1st century B.C.E., Alexander Cornelius Polyhistor, the Greek scholar who became a Roman citizen and influential tutor in Rome, wrote: "The Pythagorean doctrine prevails among the Gauls' teaching that the souls of men are immortal and that after a fixed number of years, they will enter into another body." The Pythagoreans were a Greek movement that followed the teachings of Pythagoras, a Greek philosopher and mathematician whose work greatly influenced Plato and Socrates. He taught Regeneration and the immortality of the soul. He was likely responsible for spreading the belief into the British Isles well before the days of Yeshua and Christianity. The emperor Julius Caesar recorded that the Druids of Gaul, Britain, and Ireland had Regeneration as one of their core doctrines. They believed that the soul is immortal: "The principal point of their doctrine is that the soul does not die and that after death it passes from one body into another..... the main object of all education is, in their opinion, to imbue their scholars with a firm belief in the indestructibility of the human soul, which, according to their belief, merely passes at death from one tenement to another; for by such doctrine alone, they say, which robs death of all its terrors, can the highest form of human courage be developed." The doctrine, however, goes back much further than this. The Essenes, a major religious sect that existed some 500 years before the advent of Christianity, taught this belief as a central doctrine of their faith. They were the appointed keepers of this knowledge, which was presumed lost to Humanity when the Roman Empire destroyed the Essenes in the 3rd Century C.E. I am certain that the Essenes, being a major sect at the time, taught Pythagoras the doctrine. Most of us know reincarnation has been taught in the East for thousands of years. Indian discussion of reincarnation enters the historical record from about the 6th century B.C.E., with the development of the Advaita Vedanta tradition in the early Upanishads (around the middle of the first millennium B.C.E.). There is evidence that dates the origin of the teaching of reincarnation to the Iron Age (around 1200 B.C.E.). Still, the greatest body of evidence of the antiquity of Regeneration comes from the Bible. The doctrine is present in the Torah under mankind's creation mandate. When our first primate, Adam, received a body of flesh and blood, it was created from the elements of Nature, which are all impermanent and cyclic by design. This was not so at the beginning when our soul was clothed in a body of light. The fall of man inaugurated the birth and death cycles, and the wickedness of man shortened the cycles. Instead of living nearly a thousand years, as was the case in the days of Methuselah and Enoch, our cycles were reduced to a mere 100 years. It is said in the Torah that YHWH grieved that He had created man; therefore, He shortened man's life, necessitating numerous Regenerations within what used to be a single lifetime. To counteract psychic amnesia – the loss of recollection of past lives that naturally came with shortened life cycles, YHWH gave mankind gifts (or anointings) to restore the loss of identity and succession that came with the shortened cycles of Regeneration. What are these gifts? They are the gift of a Prophet and the gift of a Seer. Prophets and Seers in the Scriptures are claimed to have been contacted by Elohim to speak for Him as an intermediary to Humanity, delivering newfound knowledge from Elohim to His people. The difference between the two is that while a Prophet is given knowledge of the past, the Seer is given information about the future. Specifically, it is the job of the Prophet to determine past life cycles, but it is the job of the Seer to determine the future life cycles of the people of YHWH. Generally, the Scripture, according to the law of generational iniquity, has set the rule, and that is up to the third and fourth generation and no further (Exodus 34:7). The further back one journeys into a person's history, the more imprecise it becomes because some cycles of our lives will not be known until the Messiah returns. The Messiah is the only one who has unrestricted access to our sub-consciousness and spirit. He alone will reveal to each person their first beginning. In fact, Judaism teaches that when Shiloh returns, he will identify each person and their tribe. Interestingly, when Yeshua found His 12 talmidim (disciples), he knew exactly who they were and which tribe they came from. He knew they were the 12 sons of Jacob whose leaders were regenerated. There is a revealing conversation that Yeshua had with Philip and Nathaniel in Yochanan (John) 1:28. The expression "I saw you under the fig tree" in their conversation is an Aramaic expression, meaning "I have always known you." For years, I have wondered why Yeshua chose these seemingly insignificant men of no Torah training to be his followers until this truth was revealed to me. Sorry, I don't have the space to cover hundreds of other passages proving Regeneration. It is in our book. Truly, there are no coincidences in the Kingdom of YHWH! In fact, the word coincidence does not exist in ancient Hebrew. The Essenes taught that Regeneration cycles could be readily determined through the gift of the Prophet/Seer. They accurately predicted the cycles of the righteous and the wicked among them. To protect this knowledge from falling into the wrong hands, they coded their predictions into horoscopes found among the Dead Sea Scrolls (D.S.S.). Unfortunately, these scrolls were found in a much-deteriorated state. We have only a fraction of the D.S.S. available to scholars, as many of the more "enlightening" scrolls were removed by the Church because they contained "sensitive" information linking the origin of Christianity to the Essene movement. The Essenes believed that their Master, who was also a priest (kohen) and whom they called the Teacher of Righteousness, was both a messianic and charismatic figure. They also believed that their Master possessed, from birth, the gifts that enabled him to reveal the past, present, and future cycles of the members of their community. For this reason, no one would dare speak evil of him or challenge his teaching. The Jewish historian Josephus, who lived at the time of the Essenes, records that the Essenes were not afraid of death or the afterlife because they knew they would receive new bodies after death and that their Master would be there to identify their soul when it emerged from the afterlife. Indeed, in Judaism today, great Rabbis of the past are revered as being able to reveal the past of people who came to inquire of them. It is said that Jews came from everywhere to the Arizal (Rabbi Isaac (ben Solomon) Luria Ashkenazia 1534 - July 25, 1572) - a foremost Rabbi and Jewish mystic who is considered the father of Kaballah, to find out about their past lives. Similarly, the Ba'al Shem Tov literally the Master of the good name (Rabbi Yisrael (Israel) ben Eliezer died May 22, 1760), was a Jewish mystical rabbi considered to be the founder of Hasidic Judaism and is known to have revealed the past identities of Jews that besieged him for this information. These rabbis were prophets rather than seers. In fact, in general, none of the past rabbis could reveal their inquirers' future. It is not that they lacked a special virtue or power, but rather it was not in their calling, and it was not yet time for this gift of the Seer to manifest itself among the elect, as that time has been left to the end generation. We are the chosen generation that will know and benefit from the combination of these gifts and knowledge that I possess. The Prophet Daniel was among many others who possessed this unique "anointing" in his generation, but was told to shut up the book until the time of the end: "But you O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book - even to the time of the end. Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased" (Daniyel (Daniel) 12:4). Like most of us, I am fully aware of the many so-called "prophets" in the headlines today predicting the end of the World only to be wrong again, and again. I am also well familiar with the many self-proclaimed psychics who read past lives for a fee that comes in the tens of thousands on the internet. The obvious question arises. What is the difference between these gifts? As I understand it, we are in the age of the Messiah, having previously emerged from the age of the Torah, and the coming era is the age of the Kingdom. At present, we are in a transition phase, a most exciting time, where we will see certain characters mentioned in the Scriptures take center stage. These persons, who are all men, will operate in this anointing and will be unlike anything you have seen or heard. Why, then, is this anointing of monumental importance? To unlock the door to the next age, we must have this key in this generation! The establishment of the Kingdom of YHWH is only possible through the revelation of these gifts and the restoration of this knowledge. The Prophet and Seer must begin their work before the Kingdom can manifest among men. Without this intimate understanding of who we are, where we have come from, and where we are going, man will be forever disconnected from his past, present, and future. Mankind has a greater destiny than any of us realize, and the truth of where we have come from is staggering beyond belief. To get to that final revelation, we must first build our foundation and erect our structure before attaching the roof. In the words of the Prophet Isaiah: "Precept upon precept; line upon line; here a little, and there a little" (Yeshayahu (Isaiah) 28:10 K.J.V.). Man's quest for eternal life is in understanding the law of Regeneration and in the application of the gifts. The advent of the Kingdom of YHWH is where this revelation and truth are powerfully realized and will transform Humanity. I understand the contention of people who find it difficult to accept the Theistic model of the Kingdom, where it is assumed that certain people are called to rule and not elected to rule. In YHWH's Kingdom, rulers are not elected by the ballot boxes but are chosen by YHWH according to His divine knowledge. It is the task of the Prophet and Seer to identify and train rulers in the Kingdom of YHWH. Politics is the way of the World and is diametrically opposed to the way of the Torah because it will always boil down to rule by the majority, and when has the majority ever done the will of the YHWH? Every political system that operates on Earth today is innately corrupted. Some systems, of course, are better than others, but none have proven immune to the decay of corruption and insatiable greed of man. Many in the West esteem democracy as the answer to the World's problems, yet democracy today is responsible for committing some of the most atrocious crimes against life, Nature, freedom, prosperity, morality, and peace. Perhaps this has not been brought to your attention before, but more human beings die or are killed under the rule of democracy than any other political system on Earth. Murder, abortion, pollution, war, industry, and commercialism, to name just a few, take or destroy incalculable lives and living things every year in Western democracies, and much of it is legal and ethical in man's eyes. We must make the distinction that it is science and technology that save lives, not politics and religion. I am also aware that nothing can change for the better until we have the Kingdom in place. The power of Regeneration and these gifts are not the knowledge that we don't die, which is a fact no one can change. Still, it is being able to establish the rightful sovereigns of our World and a class of rulers called the "Bankers" that have remained elusive to our understanding. In the parable of talents in Mathew 25:14-30, Yeshua mentions this class. In the category of sovereigns, in the Kingdom, there will be four Kings, one of which is supreme and will rule over eighty-three rulers. I apologize. I have no room here to explain who these leaders are. For eon, Humanity has been ruled and dominated by an illegal kingdom whose ruler and banker are not the elect. There is a counterfeit elite whose purpose is to dominate and enslave mankind forever. Imagine for a moment what this World would be like if all our divinely appointed leaders knew their divine appointments - they would achieve great things not accomplished by leaders in previous generations. Imagine again for a moment if all our divinely appointed bankers knew their divine appointments - they would also achieve great things not accomplished by bankers in previous generations. Their decisions will bring freedom and cause capital and investment to be abundant and available. Leaders and bankers will not use their calling and gifts to increase their power and accumulate wealth; instead, they will redistribute resources to develop all countries and peoples. The great potential remains undeveloped in key people because they are not able to know who they are and where they will be; that will be a thing of the past. Indeed, it is empowering for the soul to discover its roots and journey. The idea that fate or chance determines our future will be seen as unrealistic and completely abandoned, as were the erroneous ideas of a flat Earth and the Sun going around the Earth. If Elohim did not play dice with the creation of our Universe, as Einstein observed, what of the soul? Should we allow life to continue on a system of chance that promotes suffering and death, or should we eliminate the probabilities by letting the elect rule? The common situation is that a man or a woman who has worked hard all of his or her life and dies before enjoying the fruits of their labor or cannot continue to enjoy its benefits after death will not be permitted at the age of the Kingdom. Identity, wealth, and property will be passed down to their rightful owners/heirs because we will know about regeneration cycles, the soul's route, and family trees. Titles will be bestowed upon the rightful holders because people's real identities will be known. Thus, in the Kingdom, there will be: Continuity of identity (family name); Continuity of wealth (money, authority, and power); Continuity of property (inheritance); Continuity of family (relationships); Continuity of succession (rule), and Enlightenment (knowledge and wisdom). I foresee a new age of enlightenment that will not be matched, an acceleration of intellect, knowledge, and wisdom that we have only faintly imagined possible with the knowledge of Regeneration. Technologies that were previously developed and restrained through commercialization and technologies that are kept secret because of the fear that they would give "others" the edge will be released and available for all, which will, in turn, create even more astounding technological marvels. The patenting and licensing of technologies will dissipate because knowledge is no longer perceived as a commodity but a tool for all. The universal focus of Humanity will be to colonize the planets and travel the Universe. For eons, man has had a preoccupation with extending life and mind transfer, what we call transcendence. Untold resources and billions of dollars have been invested in this pursuit with very little change. I believe that this pursuit is contrary to the cycle and call of Nature and that we should look at ways of improving the quality of life morally and physically. We must let Nature take its course and accept our mandated condition. Our limitation is inherent in the materials from which our bodies were created and programmed into our D.N.A; thus, this is why we need to accept our destiny to begin anew graciously. In time, we will extend lifetimes beyond the normal limit, but it will be with technology that is available to all and not just a few. Many people wonder why we can't live like it was in ancient times when man was able to live past 900 years. In the beginning, when the Earth was enveloped in a canopy of water, man's life span was biologically elongated because we were shielded from the aging effects of the radiation of the Sun. Until such a time when Elohim decides to put the water back up in the heavens where it originally belonged; we cannot elongate life to biblical time frames. As long as we live in a body of flesh, we cannot escape the conclusion of aging and death that the Sun brings, although we can certainly improve the quality of our lives by eating right and living right. In our quest to understand our mortality, we have lost sight of the real reason why we are here. We are here at this point in time because we came from somewhere. In the journey of life, we all share the same unilateral destiny; we are all moving in the direction of a repair - a concept that is known in Judaism as Olam ha Tikkun (World of Repair) because we all have degenerated as a result of the fall of mankind; a fall that started with our father Adam who was a righteous man. It is recorded in the Book of Adam and Eve that when Adam ate of the forbidden fruit, he was grieved to the soul with what he had done and so earnestly sought YHWH for forgiveness, but he could not turn the clock back because the fall was in the plan of YHWH. As strange as it may sound now, the fall of Adam had a far greater redemptive purpose than any of us had previously understood. It includes the redemption of angelic beings and the Universe – the macro purpose of Regeneration. On a personal level, each of us must realize that in the great economy of souls, our awesome Creator is love, and He desires that no one perishes – the micro purpose of Regeneration. This is His unchangeable will for every human being, as revealed in Schmu'el Bet (Second Samuel) 14:14, which states, "...neither does YHWH take away life but devices mean that none is lost to Him." Our disconnection from the Set Apart One (YHWH) occurred when we all turned to our own ways and forgot about our Creator and our responsibility to our fellow man. When the focus of life is turned upon self and material gain, we lose our way in this immense and beautiful Universe that is our common inheritance. At the climax of humanity, there will be an end to the birth and death cycle determined upon all of Adam's descendants. At the end of the epoch of the Kingdom – the beginning of the renewed Earth, death, our final enemy, will be destroyed. To become worthy of the great gift of Eternal Life wherein we cannot die again, we must all travel the road of Regeneration and pass the test of life. I tell you that no Priest, Prophet, or even the Messiah is exempt from this pathway when clothed with flesh. Once we enter this World, we will die. What I have shared with you is the unadulterated truth. I shall end with the purposes of Regeneration explained in many faiths and in our book: First, Regeneration allows a continuation of the soul's journey on Earth. Second, Regeneration continually advances the evolution of the mind. Third, Regeneration expresses and demonstrates the unfathomable love of YHWH. Fourth, Regeneration manifests the never-ending mercy of YHWH, Fifth. Regeneration offers new lives in a new time. Sixth, Regeneration exposes the wicked. Seventh, Regeneration ensures the implementation of YHWH's perfect process of achieving justice. Eighth, Regeneration provides for the earthly requital of justice. Ninth, Regeneration allows the continuance of what we sow and reap. Tenth, Regeneration enables the propagation of the Torah and the Gospel to "the ends of the Earth." Eleventh, Regeneration allows for the improvement of the soul. Twelfth, Regeneration allows for the education of the soul. Thirteenth, Regeneration allows the reunification of souls. Fourteenth - Hinduism has some useful insights into why the soul (jiva) takes on various physical bodies. First, to experience the fruits of one's karma. As the soul moves from one body to another, it carries along with it an account of the effects of the various deeds it has performed. Second, to satisfy one's desires, which causes the jiva (soul) to assume new physical bodies. Third, to complete one's unfinished sadhana (journey). Fourth, to fulfill a debt. When a jiva is indebted to another jiva, it gets a human birth to fulfill its debt, and the creditor gets a human birth to receive what is owed to it. Fifth, to undergo suffering because of a great soul's curse. A person's grave error or sin may incur the wrath or displeasure of God or a Rishi. Sixth, to attain moksha, the liberation from rebirth or samsara. For further study on this fascinating subject, please read our book Regeneration.
