

PART ONE

YOU ARE AN ANGEL. What is this other voice in my head? Why can't I shut it up? Who am I really? I have good news for you. You are not crazy. You are perfectly normal. What I am about to show you will answer these questions and reveal some timely truths for this generation. Every morning, we awake with two persons competing for control of our lives. A battle wages within us because there are two persons living inside us. The first person is the "Adamic you" (the human you), and the second person (the real you) is the "Angelic you." I have used the title of "Adam" from the Biblical story of Adam and Eve purely for teaching purposes, as Adam is identified in most religions and cultures as the first man. There are no religious intonations intended in the title. The mind is not the Adamic you or the Angelic you. The mind is a supercomputer that sends out instructions and receives instructions from the "Adamic you" and the "Angelic you." The mind is part of your body – your physiological makeup. The mind is not part of your Angelic makeup. The angel in you is the soul and spirit; it is immortal and was once clothed in a garment of pure light energy made from the essence of the Divine. The spirit derives its consciousness from the soul, and the soul is not the mind. The Adamic you are a machine with trillions of mini-computers in our cells controlled by the brain with trillions of light connections called neurons. This Adamic you has a mind of its own and lives independent of the Angelic you and the soul. The Adamic you survive as long as your physical body lives; it does not need a conscious brain to live. How do I know this? When a person is "brain dead" from the result of an accident or sickness, for example, they can live for years without the mind. This phenomenon is known as "the vegetative state." The mind has the purpose of providing the Adamic you with consciousness and intelligence to experience self and life. The truth, however, is that the soul can live without the mind, exit the body in a vegetative state, and return at will. Thousands of people have had out-of-body experiences. It is a no-brainer! The Adamic you exist in the four-dimensional world (length, width, depth, and time - often called "the space-time continuum") and make daily decisions based on this world. On the other hand, the Angelic you does not exist in a four-dimensional world. The real you transverses in a ten-dimensional world! The theoretical framework of Superstring Theory posits that the Universe exists in ten different dimensions. These various aspects govern the Universe, the fundamental forces of nature, and all the elementary particles within. You can learn about these worlds on many websites, so I will not repeat that information here as it is pretty long and detailed. The important point is the real you is not limited to your five natural senses, unlike the human you. This you, the "Angelic you" is constantly traversing the boundaries of time and space, whether you are conscious (awake) or unconscious (asleep). This is why you have five spiritual senses that allow it to communicate with other dimensions. These senses are imagination (trance and visions), dreaming, perception, intuition, and faith (belief and trust). Interestingly, unlike the five natural senses that we can fully control (unless one is a maniac :), you have no natural control of your five spiritual senses unless you have mastered the self – the Adamic you and its vices. They function independently of your brain; that is why they are in the Angelic domain. I have always thought that we have five natural senses; there are actually ten natural senses, as researchers have discovered. The additional five are all sensory, for temperature, pain, balance, vibration, and various other internal stimuli for detecting salt and carbon dioxide in the blood, which is all to do with the Adamic you. The fact that we exist as a "dual being" is fascinating to me. A truth that has been hidden from us for centuries but is known to the Sages of the eras. One enlightened soul summarized this: "We are spiritual beings having a human experience" Teilhard de Chardin. I prefer Angelic beings having a human experience. There is a dynamic limitation here that must be explained. Basically, the Adamic you allow you to experience the natural world, and the Angelic you allow you to experience the Universe. We cannot connect to the Universe through the human you—the human you are limited to this world and was not created for the stars. I don't care how many movies they make about mankind conquering the "final frontier," it will never happen because it is impossible. The Adamic you were not designed to function in a gravity-free and vacuum-free (airless) environment. This is just fantasy! Our planet is enveloped by a radiation belt that is 60,000 kilometers wide called the Van Allen belt that keeps us securely imprisoned on this planet. Then, there are cosmic rays and solar flares everywhere in space that are just as fatal. It would seem to me that someone purposely put us here to recover something we lost in our journey; more on this later. Besides, the closest potentially inhabitable planet, according to NASA, is 13 light-years away. That does not sound like much until you learn that a light-year is 9.5 trillion kilometers (5.88 trillion miles). Do you have any idea how long it will take us to travel that distance at just a quarter of the speed of light? The short answer is impossible! The long answer is more than 200,000 years! That is why we need to look after this home we have because we don't have an alternative. The day that mankind finally accepts this simple truth will be our true "Independence Day." We were created to be free, and true freedom begins with a return to the simple truth of life. And you won't find it in the academic institutions and religions of the world because they are so apparent that a child can discover it. But there is the fundamental difference when the Angelic you is Master. The Angelic you is fully equipped to face this demanding and challenging world. The human you is not; that is why it needs an education and lots of training. We have all been through the process. The difference between the desires of two beings is the root of all conflict in us. What the human "you" learn is often contrary to what the Angelic you know and understand. That is why we have so much confusion and turmoil in this world: we teach ourselves things that are against our true nature, which is intrinsically moral, ethical, and sound. How many times have you learned "stuff" that you know is against the angel in you? This being is moral and ethical and is intelligent. It possesses an innate knowledge of morality. It knows automatically what the right thing to do is and what the wrong thing to do is. It is guided by a light that is beyond self; it is not moved by what happens in the world. It is unbelievably sound because it is pure in its thinking. It is not moved by the volatility of emotions but is guided by feeling and not mind. That person is more stable than you can ever imagine. It knows no evil in other people, it does not dishonor others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, and it keeps no record of wrongdoing. Note I have called this being "it" because the angel in you is sexless. In the Angelic state, we don't marry. It can easily sound like I am describing a Saint or even a god of a sort. Actually, that is a description of a real angel before the fall. How these two persons play out in real life is the mystery of life. Let me show you how it works. The Adamic you is quite reserved; it wants a comfortable and drama-free life. The Adamic you will stay at home, plant a garden, and mow the lawn. Remember, this person is earthy and homely because they are made from the dust of the Earth, whereas the Angelic you are made from "the stuff" that stars are made. Your counterpart, the Angelic you was not created to stay put. This person wants the adventure and the challenge. It constantly seeks to test the limits and set new limits. The Angelic you do not understand the confinement of a body that is earthbound. Why do you think people share the common experience of flying and floating in dreams and visions because that is what angels do? This is the battle I spoke of at the beginning when we arise from sleep. The daily conflict in our being of two natures or persons wanting two different things at the same time. One person wants quiet; the other wants noise, one wants to sleep, the other wants to stay up all night, one wants to dance, and the other wants to read, one wants to sing, and the other wants to think; one wants to drive fast, the other wants to slow down, and many more such contrasts. I have always wondered why people do crazy things and even die as a result of it. Do you know how many people have died attempting to climb Mount Everest? Over 250 people! Has that stopped people from climbing Mount Everest? No! More than 200 angels attempt the feat every year. In fact, it is now a big business to climb or conquer the mountain. This also explains why video games have become a phenomenal success, grossing billions of dollars a year in sales in spite of the adverse and harmful effects they have on our children. This is the closest experience to the “Angelic thing” that we can create without leaving our comfort zone. The problem is, as you know that it is an artificial experience that provides no real benefit to the Adamic you who want peace and fulfillment. If the game is violent or pornographic (evil), then it also harms the Angelic you. Of course, if the game is a challenge like a sport or a course way of points, then it is harmless. Please understand that I am not saying Adam does not want the frill; he does, but only once in a blue moon. Also, angels like to relax, but only after the frill of the day. Now, what is the purpose of this absolutely amazing design? I mentioned we lost something in our life’s journey that Elohim wants us to regain. I will write what Elohim told me instead of paraphrasing it, I quote, “The body is a machine that is uniquely designed to allow you to feel through five wonderfully designed senses: the sense of sight, smell, hearing, taste, and touch that is managed by a control center called - the mind. The mind is there to connect you to your senses so that you can feel my world. You are not your mind. Learn from my creation. Animals don’t live by the mind. Animals live by their feelings; in other words, their senses. They are extremely sensitive – they feel their way through life. Humans, on the other hand, think their way through life. An angel is a feeling person. You were once that kind of person who felt life and knew the power of life. You were never controlled by your mind; you lost your ability to feel when you detached yourself from feeling. Fear is not a feeling; it is a state of mind – a mental behavior you learn, like anger, jealousy, rudeness, pride, promiscuity, and so forth. Love is a feeling; kindness is a feeling; mercy is a feeling; goodness is a feeling; faith is a feeling, and so forth. These conditions or energies are in you. For instance, you don’t need to learn how to do good; you were created to be good, but you learned to be bad of your own free choice and learning. Pride, victory, power, authority, etc., are states that detach you from feeling. Knowledge, information, truth, and so forth only increase state but not feeling. That is why I humble, reject, and destroy evil people so that they can learn to feel again. To obtain feeling, you must become NO ONE, that is, learn how to “un-flesh” yourself. You begin by stopping thinking for a moment and start to feel; it is as simple as that... To connect, press the [feel] button and you can start straight away where ever you are and let me teach you. People say, ‘If you want to have friends, try being friendly’ but I say to you ‘if you want to be alive again try feeling.’ The capacity for you to do this is far greater than you can ever imagine... The world system that men have laboriously created is built on the goal of increasing security through the mind. An elusive commodity that you can never own. It is like a dog trying to catch its own tail forever chasing the wind. A person cannot own the things of this material world because it does not belong to man. You are not here to own things and other living things. Do you know you are not your name, your family, your accomplishments, your property, your business, or your job? That is the “flesh you” that has an expiry date. And that date you have no control of and ever will. The feeling is connected to angel. Once angels learn to feel again, they will not have any need for a human experience. I will take you home, and home is not this Earth...the Universe is your home - the matrix of life - the force that sustains all things - the power grid that you once traversed as an Angelic being... This real you is unlike any person you know...this angel that I love and who passionately loves me.”
